THE INTELLIGENT DESIGN

"ISLAM is TRUTH and Righteousness. The Revelation of ALLAH our Lord, the Almighty God, Lord of the worlds, Containing His Laws and His Commandments. Perfected and revealed unto Mohammad (Peace be on him), His last and final Prophet as the religion of humanity in which to worship Him, and from which to acquire true knowledge for the righteous government and guidance of all believing humanity who believe in God, in His Angels, in His Books [the Torah, Talmud, Bible, Quran, Hadith], in His Prophets and in the hereafter. Therefore, let the people know the Truth as revealed by their and our Lord and leave the rest to their own self determination and to Allah their Lord. The Knower of all Things and the final Judge." – Sheikh Daoud Ahmed Faisal

PREMISE: On December 15th, 1973, the American Psychological Association (APA) issued a declaration to declassify homosexuality as a mental disorder¹. This decision violates the laws of Physics as expressed by Coulomb's inverse square law², and thus the APA psychology model is confirmed to be a religion rather than a science (because Physics is dominant over all Biology/Psychology). Since the APA religion is entirely incompatible with equality for all humans under the law of Physics (as manifested by true, unbiased Psychology), it is prohibited for Muslims, Christians, and Jews to submit themselves as patients to be evaluated/treated by any "doctor" licensed under the false APA religion.

ARGUMENT: Human sexuality is a physics function governed by Coulomb's inverse square law, whose principal statement is, "Like charges (gender) repel each other; unlike charges attract." Thus a positive electric charge (+Male) and negative electric charge (-Female) sexually attract one another, and two negative -- charges (or two positive ++ charges) sexually repel each other (as they travel through space-time-eternity). Another extension of Coulomb's premise, which incorporates the multidimensional structure of movement through space-time-eternity (as expressed by Einstein), can be restated as follows. Like charges repel each other because they are attracted to oppositely-charged dimensions of space-time-eternity; unlike charges attract each other because oppositely-charged dimensions of space-time-eternity repulse them. Thus at any given point of human movement through space-time-eternity continuum, all matter and energy are under the effect of both attractive and repulsive forces simultaneously (from the moment of entrance into space-time through the "big bang" to the moment of exit into eternity through the "big crunch"). By extrapolation, we can thereby conclude that for a human's sexuality to remain compatible with the laws of space-time-eternity, it is governed by both the attractive and repulsive forces (as also confirmed by Einstein's Theory of Relativity).

The APA model of sexual physics attempts to claim that only homosexuality is governed by both attractive/repulsive forces (as confirmed by Coulomb/Einstein) and that bisexuality&heterosexuality are instead governed only by attractive forces (in accordance with Isaac Newton's inverse-square law of universal gravitation³, which only recognizes attraction without a corresponding repulsion to balance it). You cannot make Einstein's laws of physics into a "god" that rules over the gays and Newton's laws of physics into an inferior "god" that rules over everyone else. Newtonian physics is already confirmed to be superseded by Coulomb & Einstein, ensuring that attraction and repulsion govern all movement (relative to God). This religious double standard held by the APA is nothing less than a satanic bias against true heterosexuals that experience both attraction and repulsion when interpreting the purpose of sex. The APA does not diagnose homosexuals as being "heterophobic." They analyze homosexuals as being "repulsed" by heterosexuality (by asserting laws of physics as expressed by Coulomb/Einstein). Yet when heterosexuals express any repulsion to homosexuality, the APA instead diagnoses them as "homophobic" rather than "homorepulsed." The APA engages this bias to disparage "anti-gay" heterosexuals as suffering from psychosis, bigotry, hate and outright stupidity by relegating them to an entirely different Newtonian dimension of psychology where repulsion is not permitted to exist (and is instead replaced with "phobia"). This double standard and absolute bias against heterosexuals is nothing short of satanic in its true origins.

Forces of attraction and repulsion (not phobia) have always governed the Abrahamic model of sexual physics, but with additional rules to stabilize that structure so that movement of the human spirit occurs in parallel to the direction of time (which can only move forward toward God rather than backward away from God and toward Satan). The Abrahamic model asserts that attraction/repulsion is only stable (compatible with eternity) in the hetero configuration (and thus eternally unstable in the homo configuration). You cannot be attracted to moving toward God without being repulsed to moving toward Satan (and vice versa), and you also cannot just "stand still" and be neutral in your movement by being a bi-sexual. The APA model also proposes several impossible forms of eternal dimensions that humans can somehow achieve once space-time is suspended upon entrance into eternity. First, there is the "Newtonian eternity" where only attraction exists, and thus God, Satan, and all living beings are merged into one happy "heaven" together (and there is no hell). The APA also proposes that a "Coulomb/Einstein eternity" is also "homosexually possible," where heavenly dimensions are repulsed to each other along the lines of gender (with all men in one Heaven and all women in separate Heaven). Both proposals are impossible. The Abrahamic concept of eternity instead confirms that the procreative Heaven (of life) is entirely repulsed by the anticreative hell (of death) for both dimensions to remain separate. In the Abrahamic Heaven and Hell, sex also continues to occur in Heaven because heterosexual males/females are both present (to continue the celebration of life). In contrast, sex can no longer occur in the Abrahamic hell, where males/females are instead punished with the pain of death for eternity.

For those reasons, anyone following the Abrahamic religions must train their children to understand both the attraction and repulsion templates. When a child is educated into adulthood, they must be subject to an affirmation of heterosexual principles and rejection of homosexual principles to obtain a balanced (and thus stable) alignment of their eternal identity (for those who desire entrance into the living Heaven). All humans are automatically heterosexual at the moment of their conception. For a human to collapse into homosexuality, the first stage of that pathology requires them to pass through a "bi-sexual gateway of the mind" (which could last anywhere from a split second to decades) before moving into a "final" psychological destination of homosexuality (and thus a complete erotic repulsion to the opposite gender). This affirms that for a human to define themselves as true heterosexuals, they must also be repulsed by the notion of bisexuality and homosexuality. One cannot say that it is normal for others to be gay without affirming that it would also be normal for themselves to be gay (as sexuality is defined by what you consider normal rather than what you do yourself). Just by saying it is normal for anyone to be gay, you are automatically bisexual at the very least (even if you only practice heterosexuality). Thus it is mandatory for Abrahamic parents to not only teach their children to have a sexual attraction to the opposite gender but also to teach their children to have a corresponding repulsion to bisexuality and homosexuality.

The Abrahamic model further clarifies that when determining if an attraction is balanced by either repulsion or phobia, it is evident that heterosexual attraction is balanced by repulsion, and homosexual attraction is balanced by phobia (and not the other way around). Since the first biological child of our human species could only have been conceived in a sex act between a Male and Female, it is evident that homosexuality could not have manifested within the human species until after heterosexuality was already validated to be the origin of all sex (procreation). For that reason, homo-psychology can only exist as a mutation that is secondary and thus recessive (and inferior) to hetero-psychology (and not the other way around). When heterosexual procreation occurred for the first time, there was no other form of eroticism present in our dimension to compete with it (and thus, no competition for the heterosexual to fear). Yet when homosexuality occurred for the first time, heterosexuality already existed as the very definition of procreation (and thus, homosexuality could only have manifested as fear of the inability to compete with a procreative force already dominant in our dimension). Homosexuality is characterized and defined as a fear of life itself, which is why there is a high incidence of suicide among LGBTQIA+ (because the goal of the gaytheist model of physics is not to pursue the continuation of life but rather to END it). There is no such thing as homophobia, but there certainly is such a thing as heterophobia (which is a disorder resulting from fear of life itself).

One also has to consider the reason why genitals exist. In their origin, they permit the human species to reproduce. But why? Because human beings have a natural desire to compete with the very force that dominates them in this dimension, which is time. How can humans continue to observe the universe that contains us when time can live for trillions of years, and humans can only live for about 50-100 years on average? Procreation. Through procreation, we can remain in this dimension for much longer than the lifespan of a single human (thereby competing against the effects of time on our species as a whole). We also benefit from procreation by passing knowledge down to our children. Time will always win the race, but the longer we can keep up with time (as a species), the better our chance of understanding why we are placed on this Earth (to begin with). Is the human species going to kill itself in some cosmic suicide eventually? Or will the universe kill us (in the manner initially ordained by God)? The procreative force asserts that we are destined to be killed by the universe directly (but that we must still fight to stay alive as long as possible). Instead, the anticreative (satanic) force attempts to convince humans that we must commit suicide as a species to take control of our destiny away from God (because that is ultimately the secret goal of the anticreative religion they follow).

The final piece of this puzzle is to have an understanding of God's nature. When the Abrahamic religion teaches that man was made in "God's image" and that the male (Adam) was the first of our species, this act by God is not without purpose (as every act by God has a purpose). If you are a follower of the Abrahamic faith, the fact that a Male Adam existed for perhaps billions of years in the garden before Eve was grafted from Adam is not to be understated. This fact confirms that the male has spent more time in this dimension than the female and thus has a headstart on understanding the physical nature of our dimension (simply by being cosmically older and thus wiser). Eve was grafted from Adam's biology and not the same primordial mud used to create Adam, affirming that the female gender is twice removed from the very source material used to create the first of the human species. While it is impossible to describe God as either a male or female because those terms only apply to humans as part of their dimensional biology, the Abrahamic description of how the human species was created strongly indicates that God is somehow more masculine than feminine (in ways we cannot ever understand). This fact seems to cause much confusion between males and females because LGBTQIA+ has twisted it to claim that the Abrahamic religion declares females as "inferior" to men. Females are not "inferior" to men in terms of how God values the souls of all humans. The two genders are different, resulting in different standards for how they are qualified for entrance into Heaven. The leadership role given to males in this dimension also comes with more responsibilities, reducing the general probability that a male will enter Heaven (in relation to the female). In that way, fairness between males and females is maintained by God in ways we cannot readily fathom. The APA and LGBTQIA+ religion instead attempt to confuse humans by claiming that the Abrahamic religion is somehow "biased" against women, and they attempt to remedy this bias by proposing that God must now be defined as either a "gay man" or a "woman" or a "hermaphrodite" (of identically equal male/female proportions). Such false claims are nothing more than a delusional attack upon the male gender just for existing and having been created first (in the manner described by the Abrahamic faith). The only conclusion we can make about the fact that God created gender (based upon the creation stories expressed in the Abrahamic religious texts) is that somehow, in some way, God is (at the very least) ever slightly more masculine than feminine. That reality affirms that the male gender has an innate leadership role over all beings on this Earth which he is obligated to discharge in a godly manner or risk a higher probability (in relation to females) of being thrown in hell for failure to do so.

THE LOVE FACTOR: One must also understand that love and eroticism are different (despite claims to the contrary by the APA/gaytheist religion). A man and a man (or woman and woman) can love each other to the point of being willing to die for each other, but that type of love is not founded upon eroticism. When two men (or two women) who claim to love each other thereby attempt to express that love by engaging in homoerotic behavior, such behavior is nothing less than an expression of erotic hatred towards the opposite gender. That form of erotic rebellion can never be rooted in genuine love for God and the entirety of his creation. Eternal Heaven comprises both genders because hate between the genders cannot exist (in any form) within that environment. Non-heterosexuals cannot reside within the heterosexual Heaven of eternal procreation; it violates the laws of physics that govern eternity.

So which humans are traveling towards God with their sexuality, and which humans are traveling away from God (and towards Satan) with their sexuality? The Abrahamic religion defines sex as penis/vagina intercourse (with the male ejaculating inside the vagina and nowhere else). Oral stimulation, anal stimulation, and masturbation are all forms of sexual disorder in that such actions cannot be directed toward procreation. Many heterosexuals suffer from sexual disorders by engaging in erotic activity outside of penis/vagina intercourse. Sexual disorder within the heterosexual population progresses into higher levels of disordered pathology that eventually manifest into the LGBTQIA+ spectrums. All sexual disorders increase susceptibility to suicide-related behavior as the anticreative force starts to take over and dominate the procreative force (in the minds of those afflicted). Since time and sexuality are designed to move in the same direction (forward), the anticreative force instead causes sexuality to move backward (in relation to time), and this manifests as nothing less than a form of voluntary suicide (via submission to backward-oriented Satan). For those reasons, segregation of the APA religious structure from the Abrahamic religious structure is the only way to keep followers of the Abrahamic faith from being consumed by this false religion of the gaytheist APA. Both attraction & repulsion, origin & destination, eternally govern the physics of sex & movement through the space-time-eternity continuum. Once you leave your origin (the Big Bang, equivalent to the moment of your conception), you cannot return to it to erase your own creation. You must continue to your destination (the Big Crunch, equivalent to the moment God judges you into Heaven or Hell). Nature (physics) is the master. Nurture (psychology) is the slave.

CONCLUSION: Next time someone calls you "homophobic" for invoking Judaism, Christianity, or Islam as the foundation of your heterosexuality and how you understand sex to operate, correct them by stating, "I am not homo-phobic; I am homo-repulsed. There is a difference."
